

Since 1998, the EDGE Program (Enhancing Diversity in Graduate Education) has provided support to women, particularly those from underrepresented minority groups, pursuing careers in the mathematical sciences. Initially a joint project of Bryn Mawr and Spelman Colleges, the program creates a community in which women with diverse backgrounds and strengths can thrive and work together. The EDGE Program has given rise to a cohort of educators, researchers, entrepreneurs, and corporate and government workers who create programs of their own and share the values of diversity with their students, colleagues, and communities.

Sponsorship Opportunities

The Sharper EDGE ($20,000)

- Designated as an Official Sponsor
- Will publicly receive a recognition plaque
- Opportunity for a booth at reception
- Graphic representation on printed program
- Ten guests invited to event
- Ten books from speakers

Over the EDGE ($10,000)

- Designated as an Official Sponsor
- Will publicly receive recognition at banquet
- Opportunity for a booth at reception
- Graphic representation on printed program
- Six guests invited to event
- Six books from speakers

The Cutting EDGE ($15,000)

- Designated as an Official Sponsor
- Will publicly receive a recognition plaque
- Opportunity for a booth at reception
- Graphic representation on printed program
- Eight guests invited to event
- Eight books from speakers

On the EDGE ($5,000)

- Designated as a Sponsor
- Will publicly receive recognition at banquet
- Graphic representation on printed program
- Four guests invited to event
- Four books from speakers

The EDGE of Glory ($1,000)

- Designated as a Sponsor
- Will publicly receive recognition at banquet
- Graphic representation on printed program
- Two guests invited to event
- Two books from speakers

The EDGE Foundation is a 501(c)(3) non-profit organization.